

Application Instructions

Application Instructions for the Creighton University School of Law

Creighton Law School provides a quality education, which begins with the selection of a diverse, motivated, and accomplished student body. Each application to the Law School receives the personal attention of the Admissions Committee. Final selection of applicants to be admitted is made by the Admissions Committee, which reserves the right to deny admission to any applicant for any lawful reason.

Eligibility for Admission

To be eligible for admission, you must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university. In addition, you are required to take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), which is administered in February, June, September, and December at centers throughout the country. Starting in mid-2018, the LSAT will be given six times per year. Information regarding the LSAT is available at www.LSAC.org.

Admission Decisions and Timetable

Although primary consideration is given to undergraduate grade point average and LSAT score, the Admissions Committee recognizes that these factors are not always indicative of motivation, character, and capability. Other factors that have significant impact on admission decisions are the type of courses completed, grade patterns, extracurricular and community activities, honors, work experience, military achievements, graduate studies, and adjustment to individual hardship. The Admissions Committee also considers your personal qualities that suggest you will be a successful student and a competent attorney.

The Admissions Committee begins considering completed applications in September and notifies applicants as soon as decisions are made. The Admissions Committee often defers making final decisions on a number of applications until later in the admissions process.

Our application is available until August 1; however, the Admissions Office recommends applying by March 31 to receive priority consideration for scholarships.

Admissions Application

You are required to complete a Creighton University School of Law Application for Admission. You can complete the Application for Admission using the Law School Admission Council's (LSAC) electronic applications, which you can access at www.LSAC.org. Applications submitted to LSAC for transmission to Creighton University School of Law will be considered postmarked on the day they are electronically submitted.

Credential Assembly Service Report

All applicants are required to register for and create an account with LSAC's Credential Assembly Service. LSAC's Credential Assembly Service provides the law school with your LSAT Score(s), a summary of your undergraduate course work, copies of all transcripts, and copies of your letters of recommendation. You must have official copies of all college transcripts sent to LSAC for inclusion in your Credential Assembly Service report. Applications will not be reviewed without a Credential Assembly Service report on file with the School of Law.

Personal Statement and Résumé

The Admissions Committee requires submission of a personal statement and a résumé to assist the Committee in evaluating your application. Your personal statement must be double spaced and no longer than two pages and your résumé cannot exceed three pages. You may wish to call attention to factors in your background that may be indicative of your potential success as a law student and a member of the bar, such as your motivation to study law, work experience, special interests, honors, community involvement, or personal hardships. In a separate addendum, you may also discuss why reported grades and test scores may not fully indicate your ability to succeed in the study of law.

Letters of Recommendation

Creighton Law School requires the submission of two letters of recommendation, but no more than three letters of recommendation can be submitted. We prefer that at least one of these letters be from a college professor who can attest to your ability to enter a competitive professional program. If you have been out of school for some time, letters from your employer can be helpful. Although you are not restricted to two letters, your file will be considered complete when two letters have been received.

Creighton Law School recommends that your letters be submitted through the LSAC Letter of Recommendation Service. Your letters will be copied and sent to us along with your Credential Assembly Services report. To use this service, follow the directions for submitting letters outlined at www.LSAC.org.

Character and Fitness Requirements

Applicants who intend to practice law should be aware that admission to the bar in all states involves character, fitness, and other qualifications. You are encouraged to consult the National Conference of Bar Examiners at www.ncbex.org and the bar examiners in the jurisdiction(s) in which you wish to practice law to determine what those requirements are in the particular jurisdiction(s). Applicants are encouraged to consult with an official of the bar examiners in the jurisdiction(s) as necessary to ascertain whether any past conduct could keep you from becoming admitted to the bar upon graduation from law school.

Early Admission (Non-binding)

For applicants who want to start planning for law school early, applying under Early Admissions will have a decision (admit, deny or hold) within 14 business days of the completed application. Applications put on hold will move into the regular admissions process.

Two-Year Accelerated Juris Doctor Program (AJD)

Creighton University School of Law offers admitted students the opportunity to earn their law degree in two years, instead of the typical three years. Students enrolled in the Two-Year Accelerated Juris Doctor program (AJD) take the same courses, from the same outstanding faculty, as students enrolled in the traditional three-year program. The AJD program begins in May and runs for 24 months. More information regarding the AJD program is available on our website. Applicants interested in the AJD program should submit their application no later than March 31. Application procedures and graduation requirements for AJD students are the same as those for full-time and part-time students.

Part-Time Applicants

A small number of students are admitted to a part-time program structured to allow up to six years for completion of the JD degree. Part-time students attend classes during daytime hours with full-time students, but they carry half the course load. Application procedures and graduation requirements are the same as those for full-time students and AJD students.

Creighton Scholars Program (Binding)

This program is for academically exceptional applicants who have researched their law school options and are certain they want to attend Creighton University School of Law. The Creighton Scholars Program is a binding program designed for applicants with high academic credentials and demonstrated leadership potential. Among other benefits, Creighton Scholars enjoy full tuition and fees for three years, provided they maintain good standing. Applicants are free to apply to other schools, but if admitted, under the Creighton Scholars Program, must immediately withdraw all other application to other schools and not initiate any new applications. To apply, applicants should have a superior academic record (both LSAT and GPA) and demonstrated leadership potential and/or significant volunteer and extracurricular experiences. Applicants will be interviewed (either in person or by Skype) prior to admissions.

Applicants to the Creighton Scholars Program will receive a decision (admit, deny or hold) within 10 business days of application completion. An applicant that is put on hold will move into the regular admissions process and is not bound to attend Creighton University School of Law, if admitted.

Re-Applicants

If you applied to the School of Law in previous admission years, you are required to submit a new application to Creighton Law School, using the LSAC application service.

Transfer Applicants

If you are interested in transferring to Creighton from another accredited law school, you must submit an application, an official law school transcript, a letter from the Dean or other authorized official indicating that you are in good standing and eligible to continue, a personal statement indicating your reasons for wanting to transfer to Creighton, and two recent letters of recommendation. First consideration will be given to transfer applicants with superior credentials. No more than three semesters of residency and no more than 45 semester hours of credit may be transferred. Only grades of C or better, received from another accredited law school, may be transferred. Transfer students must meet all the Creighton graduation requirements in order to earn a degree.

Internationally Educated Applicants

If you completed more than one year of coursework at an international institution, Creighton Law School requires that your international transcripts be submitted through the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) Credential Assembly Service. The one exception to this requirement is if you completed the foreign work through a study-abroad, consortium, or exchange program sponsored by a US or Canadian institution, and the work is clearly indicated as such on the home campus transcript. This service is included in the Credential Assembly Service registration fee. An International Credential Evaluation will be completed by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO), which will be incorporated into your law school report. Questions about the Credential Assembly Service can be directed to LSAC at 215.968.1001, or LSACinfo@LSAC.org.

As part of your admissions credentials, Creighton University requires a minimum TOEFL score of 90 iBT (557 PBT) or a minimum IELTS overall band score of 6.5 (no subscore lower than 6). You are not required to submit a TOEFL score report if you received your baccalaureate or a higher education degree from an accredited institution in the United States, United Kingdom, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, or Africa (English speaking only).

If you take the TOEFL, you must request that the Educational Testing Service (ETS) to send their scores directly to LSAC. LSAC's institutional code for the Credential Assembly Services authentication and evaluation feature is 8395.

Reservation Deposit

Upon notification of acceptance, you are required to reserve a seat in the class by making an initial, non-refundable deposit of $250 by April 15 (or by the date indicated in your acceptance packet). A second, non-refundable deposit of $250 is required by June 1 (or by the date indicated in your acceptance packet). Failure to submit your seat deposits in a timely manner may result in you losing your seat and/or scholarship if applicable. If you are applying to the Accelerated Juris Doctor Program (AJD), both deposits are due by April 15. All deposits will be credited to your fall tuition and fees account.

Final Transcripts

Your acceptance before college graduation is conditioned upon you obtaining a college degree prior to registration at Creighton. A final, official transcript evidencing the conferral of any degrees reported on this application must be submitted by you directly to the School of Law or to the LSAC's Credential Assembly Service prior to the first day of fall semester classes.

Financing Your Education

Creighton University School of Law will work with you to secure financial aid, including merit-based scholarships and government loans. The scholarship program is administered by the Law School and the loan program is administered by the Creighton University Office of Financial Aid.

To apply for government loan assistance, for which need may be a factor, you are required to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA is available every year as early as October 1.

First-Year Merit Scholarships

Only full-time students are eligible for first-year merit scholarships. To be considered for first-year merit scholarships, applicants should submit their application by March 1. All first-year scholarships have merit requirements, including, but not limited to, your LSAT score and undergraduate GPA. Once admitted, applicants whose application was received by March 1 are automatically considered for the Dean's Academic Scholarship. If you satisfy the requirements, you will be notified at the time of your acceptance of the amount of your scholarship eligibility.

Creighton University School of Law has two additional scholarships: the Frances M. Ryan Diversity Scholarship and the A.A. and Ethel Yossem Scholarship (for students of the Jewish faith). If you would like to be considered for the Ryan or Yossem Scholarships, please check the appropriate box on your Application for Admission.

In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every U.S. jurisdiction. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners at www.ncbex.org.

Because of the high ethical standard to which lawyers are held, the failure to disclose an act or event such as the ones described below is often more significant, and leads to more serious consequences, than the act or event itself. Failure to provide truthful answers, or failure to inform the Admissions Office of any changes to your answers, may result in the revocation of admission (without refund of tuition) or disciplinary action by the Law School, or denial of permission to practice law by the state in which you seek admission. You have a continuing duty to update any changes to your application throughout your time as a Creighton Law student.

Please Note: If you answer yes to any of the following character and fitness questions, you must submit an attachment giving the dates, cause, outcomes, and circumstances related to the event.
